Plant tulips in October if possible. However, they may be planted anytime from September 1 until the ground freezes. October planting gives the bulb a chance to make roots that anchors it against a possible frost heave.

Plant bulbs six inches, or more, deep, and at least six inches apart each way. Use bone meal for fertilizer, mixing it in the bottom soil.

Do not use fresh manure of any kind.

Pick the blossoms before they drop. Fallen petals in the axils of the foliage may cause the fire disease, the only disease known to attack tulips.

If at all possible, plant where there is little danger from field mice.
